FOREWORD

There is a time and PLACE for everything . . .

The open doors of Livingston Central are a symbol of a many-splendored place. It is a place of invitation to the youth of our county to further their education. It is a place of beauty and community pride. It is a place for activities and a place to create county unity.

Through these doors, we, the Senior Class of 1966, have entered for four years. To us, L. C. H. is a place of memories and friendships formed throughout the years. It is a place for fun, and study, and excitement. We would like to picture for you, in the following pages, some of these memories.

Yes, Livingston Central High is a PLACE . . .

A PLACE OF STUDY AND ENRICHMENT

A PLACE FOR FUN AND SOCIALIZING

DEDICATION

My dear Mrs. Baxter,

We should like to thank you for your sincere guidance as our teacher and advisor. Your efforts during the past years not only have truly enhanced our class but also have personally harvested many friendships.

We dedicate this yearbook to you in the hope that throughout the years to come you will remember our class with fond memories. And with this dedication we extend to you our wishes for a golden future.

Yours sincerely,

THE CLASS OF 1966

IN APPRECIATION

To Mrs. Stringer:

We appreciate you for your sincerity and your patience in directing and making our vocal music department what it is. The achievement, recognition, and growth of our vocal music department has been due to your wise guidance.

IN APPRECIATION

To Mr. Middleton:

We appreciate you for your earnest and sincere assistance as a teacher in our school and as an advisor to the FFA. Through your wise guidance, leadership training, and contributions, our school has gained local, district, and national recognition.

Chapter 3 THE BEGINNINGS OF GOVERNMENT IN THE UNITED STATES

The roots of American government reach deep into the past. The system of government did not suddenly spring into being as at the wave of some political magician's wand. Nor was it pulled out of thin air by the

Our English Heritage. The French, Spanish, Dutch, Norwegian, and other Europeans settled in early America. But it was the English who came in the largest numbers. And it was the English who came to control the thirteen colonies that stretched for 1,300 miles along the Atlantic seaboard.

These early pioneers who cleared the wilderness and fought off the Indians had to look out for their own future in the New World. For they came here in search of a better life.

Founding Fathers of Philadelphia in the summer of 1787. Rather, it was experience, tradition, thought, and deed. We shall now review the high points of these beginnings.

The Colonial Period

When the first English settlers came to North America, they brought with them the ideas and traditions of the English government. These ideas were not new. They had been working and developing in England for hundreds of years. The English government was a mixture of monarchy and democracy. The monarch was the head of state, but he or she was not absolute. The people had certain rights, and the government was responsible to them.

SETTLERS AT WORK

Early Americans had to live together in harmony, or they would not survive. This was called "government in order to live," the beginning of our government today.

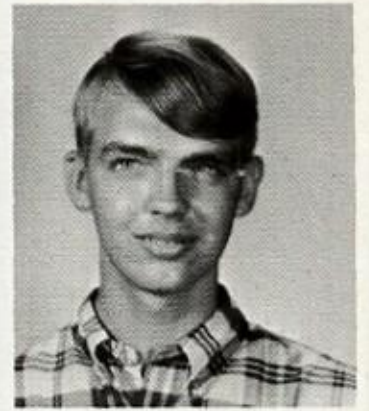

of which are to be found today—county, borough, jury, sheriff, coroner, and justice of the peace, for example. And all of these were well-known in England long before the first Englishman ever landed in America.

(1) The Two Concepts of Limited Government and Civil Liberties. They brought with them, too, the twin ideas of limited government and civil liberties. That is, that government is not all-powerful; that government is limited as to what it may do, and, negatively, that it is limited in the sense that each man has certain rights that government cannot injure or take away. These great principles of freedom were proclaimed in such historic English documents as the Magna Carta in 1215, the Petition of Right in 1628, and the Bill of Rights and the Act of Toleration of 1689.

(2) The Concept of Representative Government. A third vitally important concept brought to America in English ships was that of representative government. For centuries there had been developing in England the Rise Green stamps a book that is being checked out while Shirley Long straightens the cards and stands ready to sell supplies.

THE LIBRARY WORKERS DO A VARIETY OF THINGS

While Mary Helen Stalions is busy putting books on the shelves, Wayne Kirkham files book jackets.

Carolyn Barnes puts magazines in their proper places while Virginia Maxfield puts the morning paper up. Connie Head appears to be searching for information for some student.

Terry Davenport and Michael Hall check the cards in the filing cabinet.

These volunteer workers work diligently the whole year keeping library records, marking bulletin boards, mending books, and filing the magazines. At the end of the year, they receive a pin or guard for their work.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

The choir devotes its time to singing the very best in music literature.

The choir yearly becomes more proficient in its sight reading and performing skills, and takes much pride in maintaining high standards. It appears on concerts, commencement, and baccalaureate. Other activities are short tours and operettas. There are many outstanding voices in this group, several of whom always rate superior on vocal solos at contests.

GIRLS' CHORUS

The Girls' Chorus is open to any girl who likes to sing. All of the proper aspects of singing are taught, and a well rounded repertoire is maintained. Singing for enjoyment is stressed in this group.

The group appears on various concerts during the year and always enters the Regional Festival at Murray.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS . . .

The cheerleaders generate the pep and enthusiasm that is necessary for the team to play its best. Besides leading yells, the members are the ones to plan the pep sessions, encourage school spirit and team support.

Miss Peggy Sue Shroat is the faculty sponsor of the cheerleaders. The members are chosen in the spring by the Pep Club, the team, and the faculty.

Deciding upon which yell will do the most good is quite a problem.

KEEP SCHOOL SPIRIT ALIVE

The faces of the cheerleaders show the emotion that they feel during an exciting moment.

A basket made at a crucial moment causes jubilation from both the cheerleaders and the Pep Club.

Victory or defeat? Well, either way, another one is over.

Linda, Pat, Judith Ann, Connie, Sandy, and Anna Rose give freely of their time and effort toward a successful season.

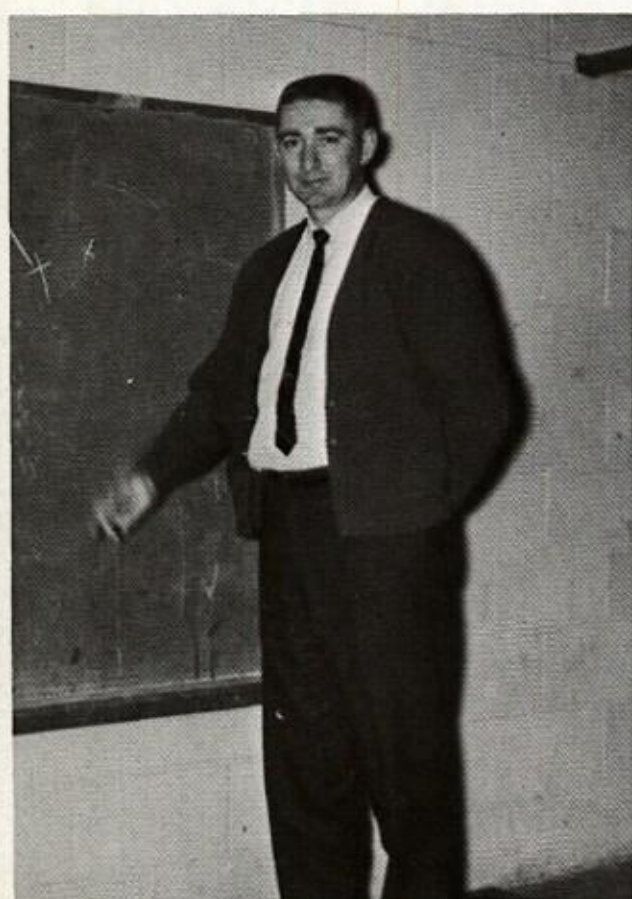

The cheerleaders plan a pep rally before an important game and try to give the team confidence.

Faces of the cheerleaders mirror many different emotions at a crucial moment in a closely contested game. Did he make the basket or didn't he? The pep club responds to their demands to "Go, Team, Go!". "Fight, Cardinals, Fight!" "WIN, CARDINALS, WIN!"

The "B"-Team Cheerleaders practice a yell before they lead the Pep Club in trying to cheer their team on to victory. The "hands" seem to be the "thing" is this one.

The ball game between Livingston and West Hopkins on November 19 was highlighted by the crowning of Miss Pat Threlkeld as Livingston Central's Basketball Queen of 1965-66. The Queen, wearing a floor-length rose-colored formal, was crowned by Doug Henry, senior Varsity player.

The Queen and her court presided over the game during the first half.

This WAS a Time and Place . . .

The doors of Livingston Central are closed, the halls are empty, and the sound of voice is still. Livingston Central is a "has been" for the Class of '66.

However, the pages of this book will make dearer the memories of this past year when we had our class parties, yelled for our basketball team, made new friends, and broadened our knowledge of the world around us.

Yes, Livingston Central WAS a place, but in the hearts of the Class of '66 it IS and ALWAYS WILL BE a place where we spent four happy years.

The yearbook staff would like to take this opportunity to express our thanks to the many people who have made this yearbook possible.

It is fitting that we first express our gratitude and thanks to the advertisers for recognizing the selling power of our ad section and for the support we have received from them.

The publication of this annual would not have been possible if it were not for understanding teachers who were lenient and thoughtful enough to excuse students to work on the yearbook when a deadline was approaching or pictures were being taken. Special thanks are proffered to Mr. LaRue, our photographer, who has gone above and beyond the call of duty in helping us to put out the 1966 Livingstonian.

We hope that this yearbook will hold many cherished memories and recollections to the student body in the years to come.
